

GVNEXT

The GVSU news website, GVNext, is an external-facing publication presenting regular news reports and features on the people, academics, programs and slices of life at Grand Valley. It is published on gvsu.edu and distributed via email.

Notable: The analytics for this year reflects a significant increase compared to the previous year, due in part to growing web traffic generated by AI-powered search and indexing tools, which can inflate page views and visitor counts across higher education websites.
